There has been some discussion about expanded Metal Charcoal Shovels in various posts. The product you are looking for is the "Koal Keeper". <http://www.koalkeeper.com/main.htm>

It is sold in some retail stores in the Eastern States. For the rest of us, mail order from Lehman's <http://www.lehmans.com/> is the best way to get one.

Thanks Bill,

I was just shopping around for one of those. Tom Jackson was showing his off at the GWDOS / Storm Mountain DOG on Saturday. they work pretty good.

I saw this one on ebay for $13.45:

Lehman's has a little better deal.

I have this little shovel and I recommend it! I wonder how I ever got along without it.

Brenda

It was after I saw Steve's shovel at the Pomona ISE Show, that I began an Internet search to locate a retail source. The Koal Keeper website listed Lehman's. I thank you and Steve for first showing me the shovel.
